1.1 Medical Insurance

All COE Globex International Students must be medically insured throughout their entire period of study. The health plan purchased by the students must at least provide medical coverage for Accidental Injuries and Hospitalization.

All COE Globex International Students must purchase their own insurance before the program. Please inquire from your insurance company the details regarding the insurance claim procedures and the phone number of your insurance’s emergency call center.

All students who purchased their insurance from a foreign insurance company are required to submit a copy of their health plan and a Medical Insurance Certificate Form to the COE Globex International Relations on the day of registration. Please note that your Medical Insurance Certificate must be written in either English or Chinese language.

Students who are not medically insured and/failed to provide the university with the required supporting insurance documents are not allowed to register.
The Peking University Campus Hospital and the Peking University Third Hospital are equipped with sufficient medical facilities that are accessible to our students. If you feel ill, please bring your Student ID Card to these hospitals to register and arrange for medical appointments. Students may also visit the neighboring hospitals near PKU, they are: The Haidian Hospital at Huangzhuang and the Traditional Chinese Hospital at Xiyuan. Other main hospitals in Beijing include: the Peking Union Medical College Hospital, the Beijing Hospital, the Sino-Japanese Friendship Hospital and the Tongren Hospital.

Since all COE Globex International Students have to be medically insured, it is important for you to make sure that your health plan provides coverage for all hospital medical treatments. It serves to be helpful that you inquire from your insurance company regarding the specifics of your insurance plan and its validity in Beijing.

Especially, for foreign students and teachers, you must bring your passport, home return certificate or ID card with you if you want to get some medical help in the Peking University Campus Hospital.

For your own safety, do not exchange money on the streets for this an illegal act and you risk getting conned. Students may convert the following foreign currency - Pound Sterling, Hong Kong Dollar, American Dollar, Euro, Japanese Yen, Canadian Dollar and Australian Dollar – into RMB at the banks in Beijing.

For your convenience, we recommend you exchange a little bit money into RMB for your first day when arriving at China in the airport. You may need 120 RMB to take a taxi or 27 RMB for Airport Express and Subway from airport to your hotel.

Students can also withdraw money in RMB from certain ATM machines that accept the foreign credit cards of:

1.9 Public Transportation

Buses: Bus Service is the cheapest means of public transportation in Beijing. It can be as cheap as 1 yuan per ride or 4 jiao if you use card. But due to the frequent traffic jams in Beijing, we DO NOT recommend bus service for a long journey. Still, it will be very convenient to take a bus to the southeast gate of PKU from your hotel.

Subway: There is one subway station at the East Gate of Peking University, which is on the Subway Line 4. Beijing subway is cheap, reliable and convenient. It cost 2 RMB per ride to anywhere in this system. Subway is the most convenient public transportation in Beijing. We have included a Beijing Subway Map in the appendix. You can refer to the map while taking subway.

Taxis: The starting fare of taxis in Beijing is 13 RMB within 3 kilometers. The regular taxi meter-rate is 2.30 RMB/ kilometer. You will be asked to pay another 1 RMB as the fuel tax.

Due to the fact that many roads in Beijing are under construction and that the city is constantly developing, the public transportation system (including routes, busses and subways) is subject to change. http://www.bjbus.com is an interactive website that can help you with finding your way around the city via public transportation.

You may also download applications into your smartphone for access to Beijing subway map.

E.g. Metro Beijing Subway for iOS

3.1 On Expenses

3.1.1 What expenses should I pay?

We have simplified the Globex expenses by categorizing them into 3 groups: Globex tuition fee, essential personal expenses and optional personal expenses. The only fee in the Globex tuition is the CNY 2000 per course fee that we collect from students whom we don’t have an exchange agreement that calls for a mutual waiver of tuition. Under the "essential personal expenses" category, they include board and lodging and other minor expenses. Under the "optional personal expenses" category, they include fees for the 3-D BJ tour, internet, etc.

As for all other expenses, students are expected to pay for them - these include the cost of the field trips associated with the 2 humanity & social science classes- China Economy and China Today that have prescribed field trips for their students.

3.1.2 How can I make the payment for the program?

You have 2 choices to make payment for the Globex tuition: pay after you have arrived on campus or remit via a bank transfer. We have just applied to PKU Finance to get a Globex account setup and when we have the info, we will inform you if you decide to remit instead of paying in person. BTW, in the USD payment, we have collected a few dollars extra to pay for charges when we convert the USD to CNY.

If you plan to join any of the trips (3-day BJ tour and/or the field trip) you will need to pay the contracted tour agency directly via paypal.
3.2 On Visa and Schedule Arrangement

3.2.1 Do I need to independently apply for a Chinese student visa or is that completed as part of my Globex application?

You will need to apply for the X2 visa and we will send you the official documentation to support your application sometime in early May after we have completed processing your Globex application. After you received the document, you can proceed to apply for your X2 visa with the Chinese Embassy in your country. You can check with the Chinese Consulate to see if they can handle the X2 visa application.

3.2.2 When should I buy the air-tickets?

We suggest you go ahead and purchase your air-ticket now as it is generally cheaper to get it as early as you can.

BTW, you can arrange your flight as follows: fly into Beijing on arrival and depart from Shanghai on the day you plan to go home. This way, you do not need to return to BJ to fly home. FYI, for international flight, this arrangement is still considered a "round-trip" flight even though there is a break. Further, the airfare is probably the same as flying into and returning from BJ. You can check this out online by using the "Multi-City" booking.

To connect between BJ and SH, we will use the bullet-train.

3.2.3 Is that okay if I can’t provide the exact date of my flight now?

That’s all right, please advise us when you have confirmed your flight.

3.2.4 What is the check-in procedure?

Your accommodation will have been arranged well. You can use your credit card to pay for your rooms. Payment will be in RMB to merchants. BTW, when checking in, the hotel will charge RMB 100 for the room card deposit.
3.3 On Life in China

3.3.1 How do I make international phone calls?

The most convenient and affordable way to make international phone calls is to use an IP card (International Phone card).

Students may purchase IP cards on campus at Wu-Mei Mini Mart (B1, Building #45B), the flower shop and at the fruit shop right across from the noodle shop. When you are making an international phone call using the IP card, remember to dial two zeros followed by the country code, area code, and the phone number that you are calling to. For example, if you are making a phone call to the United States of America, dial 001+(area code)+(phone number).

The IP cards prices generally come in 3 units: 30 RMB, 50 RMB, and 100 RMB; and the prices varies between the IP cards service provider. Student can ask the IP cards vendors regarding the calling rates for different countries.

Students also have the option of making international and domestic-long distance phone calls at the telephone bars, which are located near Building #48, Building #35 and near the library.

3.3.2 Where can I purchase computers and cell phones?

You can purchase computers and computer accessories (such as routers, LAN/Internet cable and speakers) from several digital/PC complexes at Zhong Guan Cun. Some of these digital/PC complexes are Tai Ping Yang, Ding Hao and Gui Gu. In addition, Peking University has a Computer DIY Association whom you can seek assistance from in purchasing the right computer.

3.3.3 What is the electric outlet’s voltage in my dorm room?

The electric outlets' voltage in China is 220V. There are transformers/adaptors available stores and shops around the campus if you need it for your electrical appliances.
3.3.5 What are the supermarkets/superstores near campus and how to get there?

- Carrefour
  (20 minutes walking distance from PKU)

  Exit from the campus’s South Gate and turn left and walk down the street. Make a right turn at the first crossing and walk straight until you see the ‘Carrefour’ sign.

- Wu Mart Supermarket
  (15 minutes walking distance from PKU)

- Bu Feng Lian Hua
  (20 minutes walking distance from PKU)

  Exit from the campus’s East Gate, walk straight until you see the Bu Feng Lian Hua Supermarket on your left hand side.

3.3.6 Are there any facilities on campus for students with physical disabilities?

The 2nd, 3rd and Science Classroom Building, as well as the university’s library are equipped with elevators. Along with that, many of our classrooms and conference halls have wheelchair ramps that cater to the convenience for the physically disabled.

3.3.7 How can I communicate with others with little Chinese language knowledge?

Many citizens in Beijing, even the elders, can speak basic English. If you have some problems, feel free to ask others for help in English. They will be happy to give you a hand.

Try to slow down your speech in communication. And you can also use body language to make your expressions clear.
3.3.8 Where can I get Internet access?

Campus Internet access

It’s highly recommended to use the campus Wi-Fi, which you can get access to in most of the teaching buildings. It costs 120 RMB per month. Once you make the purchase, you can use your SID and initial password to visit http://its.pku.edu.cn to register.

Wireless network card

You may get one for 330RMB in the entrance of the Wu-Mei Mini Mart, which has 3G internet access. If you want to get your laptop online outside the campus, this choice would be a considerable one.

3.3.9 How can I exchange money near PKU?

There is a China Bank just outside the south-west gate, where you can exchange money. But it’s recommended to exchange enough money in your own country, for it’s generally cheaper. On arrival, you can exchange a small amount of money at the airport for emergency usage.

The Bank of Beijing also provides such services, which sometimes can be more convenient for you to exchange money. But it will be a little more expensive than the China Bank.

3.3.10 Can I choose to live somewhere else?

You are allowed to choose where to live during Globex if you are Chinese. For safety reasons, you need to inform us your address in Beijing ASAP. Big city as Beijing is, we suggest that you’d better live not too far from the campus, or it will take you long time back and forth.

If you are not Chinese and want to rent a room during your stay in Beijing, you have to register for the record at the local police station in 24 hours from your arrival.
3.4 On Courses

3.4.1 Can I transfer my credits from PKU into my own university?

If you are nominated by your home university, your credits from the Globex courses will be transferred back to your home university automatically. If you apply as an Independent Applicant (IA), your credit may not be transferred back to your school. So, that is why you need to sign an IA form.

3.4.2 Can I participate only in the field trips or only in the 2 HSS courses?

For the 2 HSS courses (China Today and China Economy), as a part of the course requirement, you must participate in the field trip corresponding to any of the 2 HSS courses. So you are not allowed to participate only in the field trips or only in the HSS courses.
